KING GEORGE DROPS GERMAN TITLE

No Longer the House of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, But the House of Windsor.

HELPED MR. VAIL CELEBRATE.

Two Hundred Children Gathered at Speedwell Farm.

St. Johnsbury, July 17.—Members of the boys' and girls' garden class of Lyndon united yesterday in celebrating the birthday of Theodore N. Vail. Mr. Vail's interest in agriculture and home economics has made the garden work under a trained teacher possible for all the boys and girls of that town.

Early yesterday morning the choicest offerings from scores of gardens around Lyndon were sent to Speedwell farms and at noon more than 200 children gathered on the grounds of the Lyndon tea shop to honor Mr. Vail. As he and a party from Speedwell farms arrived, Mr. Vail was showered with flowers by the children and the air rang with congratulations.

Mr. Vail addressed them briefly, expressing much pleasure at the demonstration. The children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vail at luncheon served on the lawn. Following this, luncheon was served at the tea shop to the members of the house party at Speedwell farms. Among the guests was Albert Bigelow Paine.

Thrill in Bond Buying.

In an address before the New York State Bankers' association, it was stated that England's first war loan of one billion and three-quarters was subscribed to by one hundred thousand subscribers. To her last great Victory loan of five billion dollars in 1917, there were eight million subscribers. What, it was asked, was it that caused this tremendous increase in national interest, this wonderful financial support from every part of the nation in the prosecution of the war? It was thrift, the habit of saving and investing, a habit formed by a whole people working with one definite end in view.

America's first war loan was much larger than England's first loan and was subscribed to by a great many more people. America's next issue of Liberty loan bonds, which later will be offered for sale, it is believed will be subscribed for by a greater number than subscribed to England's last loan. Thrift and American patriotism will accomplish this result—thrift because the people have been awakened to its necessity and patriotism because it has been aroused in a higher measure by the fact that our soldiers soon will be fighting on the battle front in Europe.

Among the most practical exponents of the "plant-a-plot" gospel in Barre is a group of housewives living in the north end and middle section of the city, who have leased a sizeable area of gardening ground on Hooker hill. Almost from the inception of the community idea among the householders, the heavy work has not been delegated to the men. From the moment the soil was first furrowed several weeks ago until now, practically all of the work has been done by the women and to them belongs the credit of whipping into shape one of the finest gardens to be seen hereabouts. On any number of mornings this summer the women planters have sallied forth soon after dawn to do their bit in the garden. Just now they are combining their energy in a campaign against potato bugs and any member of the bug family, had it seen the formidable array of battle weapons carried by the agriculturists to-day, would have hoisted the white pennant on sight.
